ENTRE NOUS

FIRST CLASS MAIL

DANVERS JUN 27 '87 MASS

U.S. POSTAGE 0.22 8216134

X

VIII / 87 No1. #

dividend

box 1465 Manchester MA 01944
(617) 526-1521

the GRASSY KNOLL GAZETTE is published bi-monthly, with occasional dividends between, by CUTLER DESIGNS box 1465 Manchester MA 01944 ... $10/year, $12 overseas printed by Minuteman Press, Danvers, MA .. circ. ca 200 ca 99 complimentary

MENE MENE TEKEL UPHARSIN

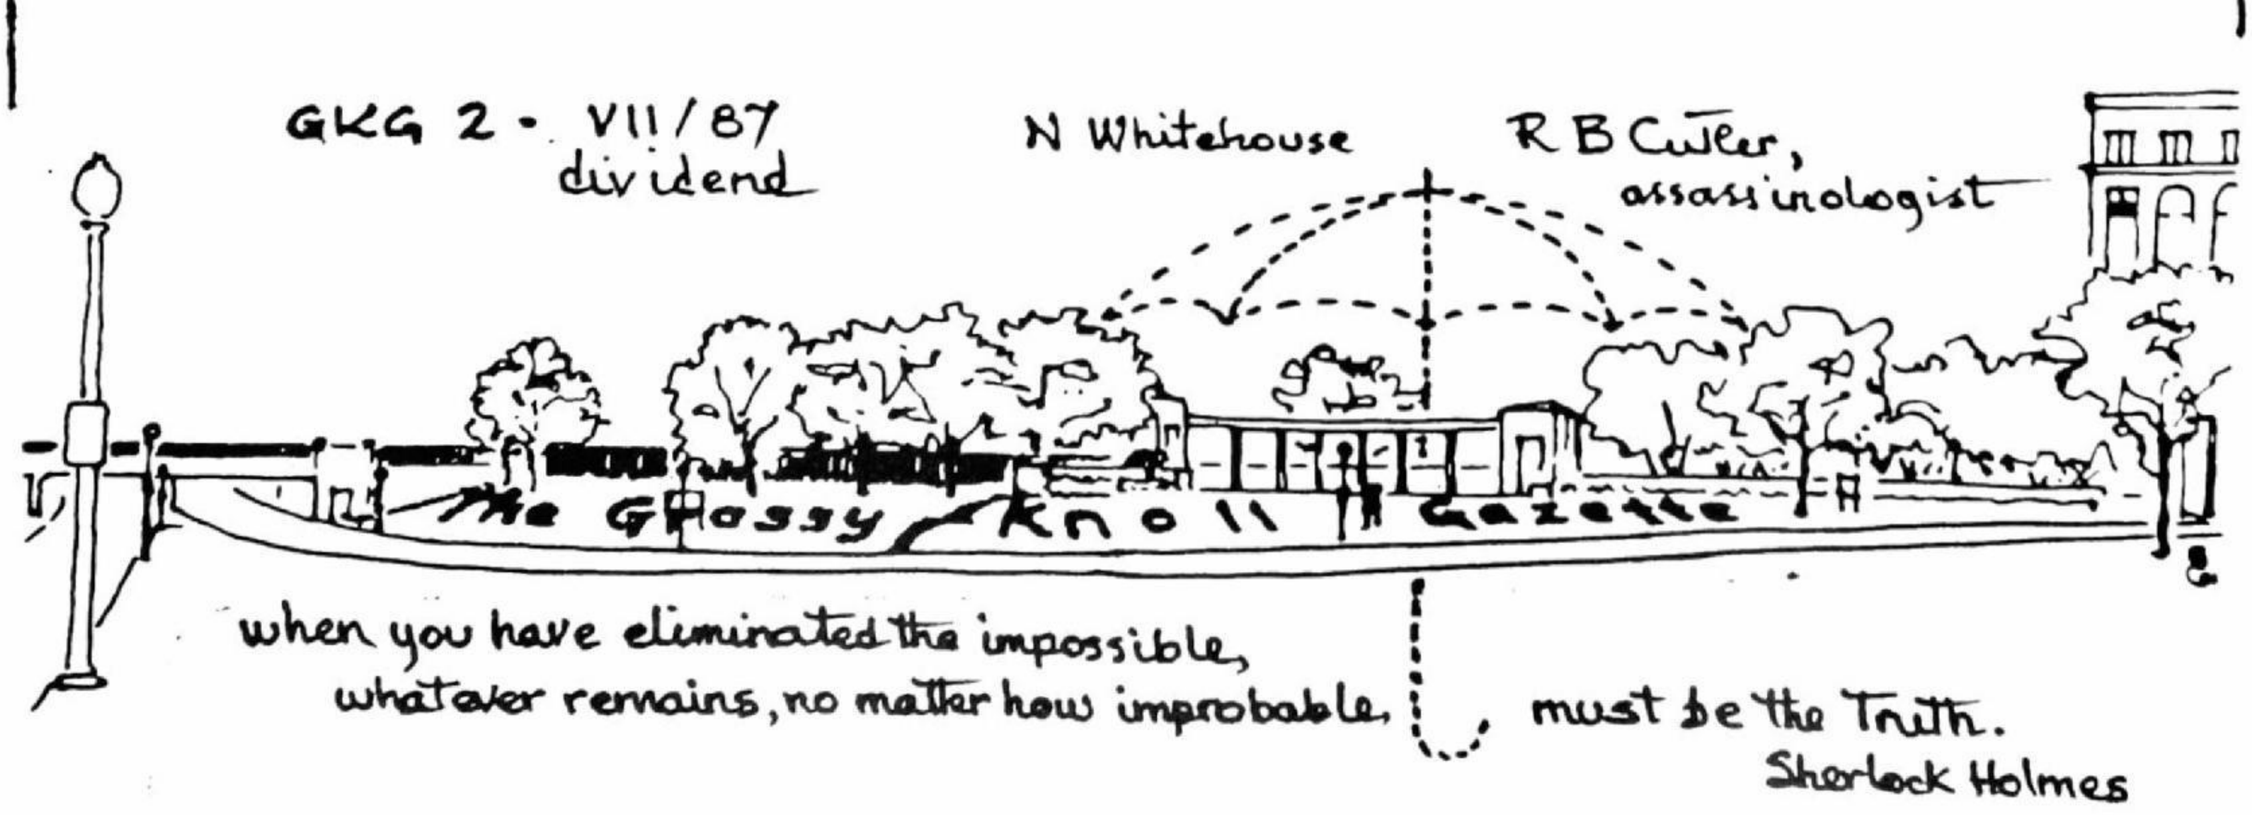
(Daniel 5:25)

Investigations into the truth, unravelling major events of past decades, makes interpretation of the handwriting on the wall available to all who care.

Today's assassinological ruminations in any Ivory Tower immediately stir up the scent of real danger 'round the presidential bend. ('88 is coming early this year). Recalling the bullets of some past quadrennal bends, the hope that this time the Professional War Machine, PWM, will change its spots remains as nonsensical as ever. Forty-odd years of success dictates against changing anything in the middle of PWM's version of the stream of history.

Arrayed against this proven power of the sword is that of the pen, which during the past six months has mounted four guerilla attacks of no small consequence. Unfortunately this tends to suggest that PWM will revert to relying on the dirty-tricks by death squads that delivered the presidential elections of '64, '68 and '72.

Those who pooh-pooh this dictatorship view of US history are condemned to live by the Lone Assassin Myth which is propped up by an over-abundance of reputable big-guns all pointing every which way and spluttering haphazardly at will. Not one understands; not one can target the enemy within.



M E N E

1 : CAKE, BIBLE & ARMS

The first of these attacks on PWM was a story in the XI/3/86 issue of Al Shiraa, a Beirut weekly, which told of a trip to Lebanon, last spring, by a former US presidential national security adviser, and others, to connive with politicians of a nation the US president had told the world was America's "enemy". Fallout from this hit panicked PWM into wheeling the wagons into a circle the better to continue its search for the successor to the puppet throne. As of this writing, its White House Chief of Staff looks like the best "dark horse" available.

Compounding the connivance in Teheran was exposure of its funding PWM's mercenaries fighting "communism" in America's own backyard. In 1963 John Kennedy, knowing he would be branded "soft on communism", started the withdrawal of our forces from Indo-China. PWM responded to this friendly global policy with a coup d' etat which assassinated the president and established control over the decision-making in the White House. Two decades and more of this ignorance has pushed the ideology of anti-communism so deeply into the American subconcious that today no public figure dares congratulate Mikhail Gorbachev on his moves toward the human side of Marxism. Standing tall, in confrontation, has replaced the logic of understanding, softly.

Al Shiraa's seeds of exposure fell on fallow ground tilled by eighteenth-century march-countermarch-about minds. Henry Gonzalez' House Res. 111, impeaching the puppet for high crimes and misdemeanours, will only gain momentum when PWM's anti-communism is perceived as the transparent paper-tiger it is, benefitting the warmongering few and befouling the lives of evryone in this neighborhood we all call Earth.

2 : WALTZING IN TENNESSEE

The second of the four hits was published five months later, on the nineteenth annivesary of Martin Luther King jr's assassination. James Earl Ray's Tennessee Waltz, out of St Andrew's Press in hardcover, is a barrage, a broadside which knocks every prop out from under PWM's re-run of the Lone Assassin Myth. Ray does not attempt to solve the King murder; he sticks to his knitting and relates explicitly how he was trapped into becoming a political prisoner, a necessary asset for PWM's control of the White House.

With the onset of 1968, PWM anticipated the threat of a charismatic leader who might upset its puppet in the polls in November. Dr King with his civil rights backers and rejection of the idiocy in Viet

(cont'd)

MENE

Nam, was targetted as the "enemy" and eliminated before the threat became a political reality.

Ray's broadside exposes all the action that set him up as the assassination's patsy. There is no way he could have fired the bullet that killed Dr King. At that moment he was driving the pale yellow Mustang back to the rooming house to meet Raoul again. Subsequently, every time he came up for air, PWM nailed the lid down the tighter.

Eminent jurists, lawyers, authors, writers, the House Select Committee on Assassinations and others have been remunerated for lending their talents to keeping the public disinformed as to who killed MLK. At long last, the handwriting is on the wall : Tennessee Waltz tranlates freely into MENE MENE TEKEL UPHARSIN.

3 : CALIFORNIA CAPER

The third foray against PWM is an article by Dan Moldea in the VI/87 issue of Regardie's, a Washington DC monthly magazine. Who Really Killed Bobby Kennedy? features an interview with the security guard who was "escorting" the candidate (from behind) thru the pantry at the moment of the murder. Apparently, on advice of counsel, Regardie's stopped short of naming Thane Eugene Cesar as RFK's assassin.

GKG VI/86 makes it clear that Thomas Noguchi's RFK autopsy report states that the fatal shot was fired from less than two (2") inches behind the right ear. Once Moldea overcomes his terror of tarnishing his reputation by associating with conspiracy kooks, he does rather well.

> .... a second gunman may have been involved ....(p 50)
> ....Kennedy was hit four times from the rear at angles and at distances that did not match Sirhan's position.... (p 59)
> .... Kennedy was immediately followed by Cesar who was holding Kennedy's right arm .... the barrel of Sirhan's gun never got closer than one and a half to two feet from [and in front of] the Senator .... Cesar was standing directly behind Kennedy when Sirhan began firing and according to his own statements was in a position to shoot Kennedy at point-blank range .... he was seen with drawn gun .... (p 62)
> .... Cesar said that he was so close to Kennedy that the flashes from the gun [Sirhan's ?] appeared to be fired at him .... in an interview with a radio reporter immediately after the shooting, Cesar said, "I was there holding his arm when they shot him..." (p 76)

(cont'd)

The article, a good primer for beginners, covers the history of the case and delves into every aspect except what was quashed by PWM's publishing arm, which explains why Regardie's editor, Brian Kelly notes:

> .... I don't want to hype this piece. I'll tell you right now that it doesn't prove that somebody else shot Robert Kennedy. But it does prove that something is wrong .... (p 9)

Kelly's desire to continuing publishing along the Patomac leaves a thin veil between the reader and Noguchi's handwriting on the wall which was carefully avoided byboth Defense and Prosecution at that psychiatric circus known as Sirhan's trial. Hopefully, Moldea's untarnished reputation will embolden someone in authority to invite Sirhan to dance in California an improvement on what Ray found in Tennessee.

4 : DOUBLE SHUFFLE IN DC

The fourth hit shakes up PWM's 1977-8 attempt to maintain its Lone Assassin Myth and, by using the word "conspiracy", win public approval in one fell swoop. The House Select Committee on Assassinations COVERUP is a compilation of taped conversations, documents, letters and overviews from a surprising source. Ted Gandolfo is a well-known researcher who has specialized in tape-recording everything having to do with the assassinations since JFK. Having been on TV and radio for many years, this departure from his norm is a fusillade that riddles one of PWM's most sophisticated coverup operations.

Perceiving the popular demand for the truth about who killed JFK, unleashed in part by ABC's showing of the Zapruder film, the House of Representatives, in IX/76, created a Select Committee on Assassinations. Despite a determined affort in House Rules,

> ....But I don't know what we have got to gain, even if we proved that Oswald did not even shoot him. I still don't know what difference that is going to make now at this stage .... (Congressman Sisk, p 87) the desire to uncover the truth prevailed 280 to 65.

Two months later, PWM's control of the White House was shaken by its puppet president's defeat by a peace candidate. Faced with a threat in both the Executive and Legislative Branches, PWM mounted an offense that returned it to ~~its~~ power in time to install its new puppet in 1981.

(cont'd)

UPHARSIN

.... And so, after all the debates, pro and con, the House Select Committee of Assassinations began its "investigations" .... Its mandate was to fully investigate and then inform us all of ALL the evidence and information which the Committee had secured. As we shall see, this, in fact, WAS done at the outset while Richard A Sprague was the chief counsel. But as you will read in much more detail later on, the CIA owned news-media forced his resignation, therby allowing G Robert Blakey to "run the show" .... (p 143)

Reproducing R E Sprague's Nondisclosure Agreement reveals one of the devices employed in keeping the staff in line. His letters to Chairman Stokes indicate the Committee's turnabout under the auspices of its second Chief Counsel.

Gandolfo's best shot is his II/17/87 taped telephone conversation with Blakey, which prompts :

> ....I now have absolute PROOF that G Robert Blakey ....completely, deliberately covered up Jim Garrison's overwhelming evidence of DIRECT CIA involvement in the JFK assassination. This evidence was supplied by Garrison to HSCA investigator CliffordFenton, who headed a 5-man investigative team .... this evidecne was given, personally, to Blakey, who completely suppressed ALL of it from the citizens of this country, indeed, peoples of the whole world ! .... (p 264)

Any emphasis in the quotes is in the obiginal. COVERUP is $ 22.95 plus 10% postage : Ted Gandolfo 1214 1st Ave NYC NY 10021 ▼

These four truths, the handwriting on PWM's wall, will not be treated lightly by those who live by PWM's sword. Around bend '88 there is plenty of white water for presidential candidates and for those who prefer to see a change in the tide of PWM's affairs. Should that concept flourish, PWM's TV genii will quickly document the History of the Lone Assassin complete with a bevy of lone nuts from Manchuria, endless scientific cassettes of 22 ricochets off the pantry steam table, a pale yellow Mustang in every pot and G R Blakey crowned Queen of the May at Notre Dame.

With "the government" self-hypnotized in its bi-partisanship and PWM vapours, the electorate can now go quietly about the business of planning a re-coup d' etat of the White House in '88.

Third Parties emphasize governance over stonewall-standing tall. ▼

GKG.6.VII/87 div